Annual Report for Pass Percentage 2023-24

Throughout the academic session of 2022–2023, the college administered final year examinations to a cohort comprising 730 students. Upon analysis of the overall pass percentage data, it was discerned that 62.877% of the students successfully completed their studies and graduated from the institution.

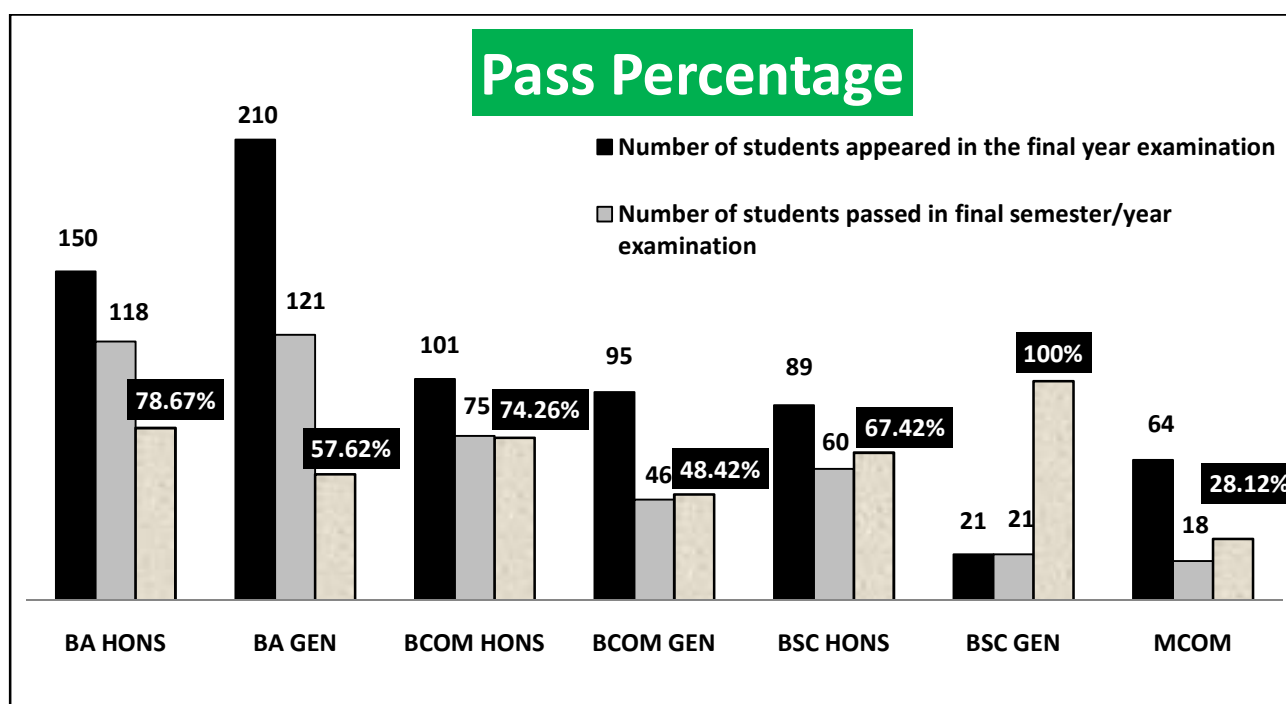

Diving deeper into the demographics, undergraduate students achieved a commendable success rate of 66.22%, underscoring their dedication and academic prowess. Conversely, the pass rate for PG (MCom) students was relatively lower, standing at 28.13%.

A noteworthy observation was the distinction between pass percentages among different student categories. Specifically, UG Hons students exhibited a markedly higher success rate compared to their counterparts pursuing General courses, registering figures of 74.41% and 57.67%, respectively. This discrepancy underscores the impact of specialized study tracks on academic outcomes.

Furthermore, a nuanced examination of pass rates across academic disciplines revealed intriguing insights. In the realms of arts, commerce, and science, both Honours and General students displayed varying levels of success. Specifically, pass rates were recorded at 66.39%, 61.73%, and 73.64%, respectively. This variance highlights the influence of academic specialization on achievement within distinct fields of study.

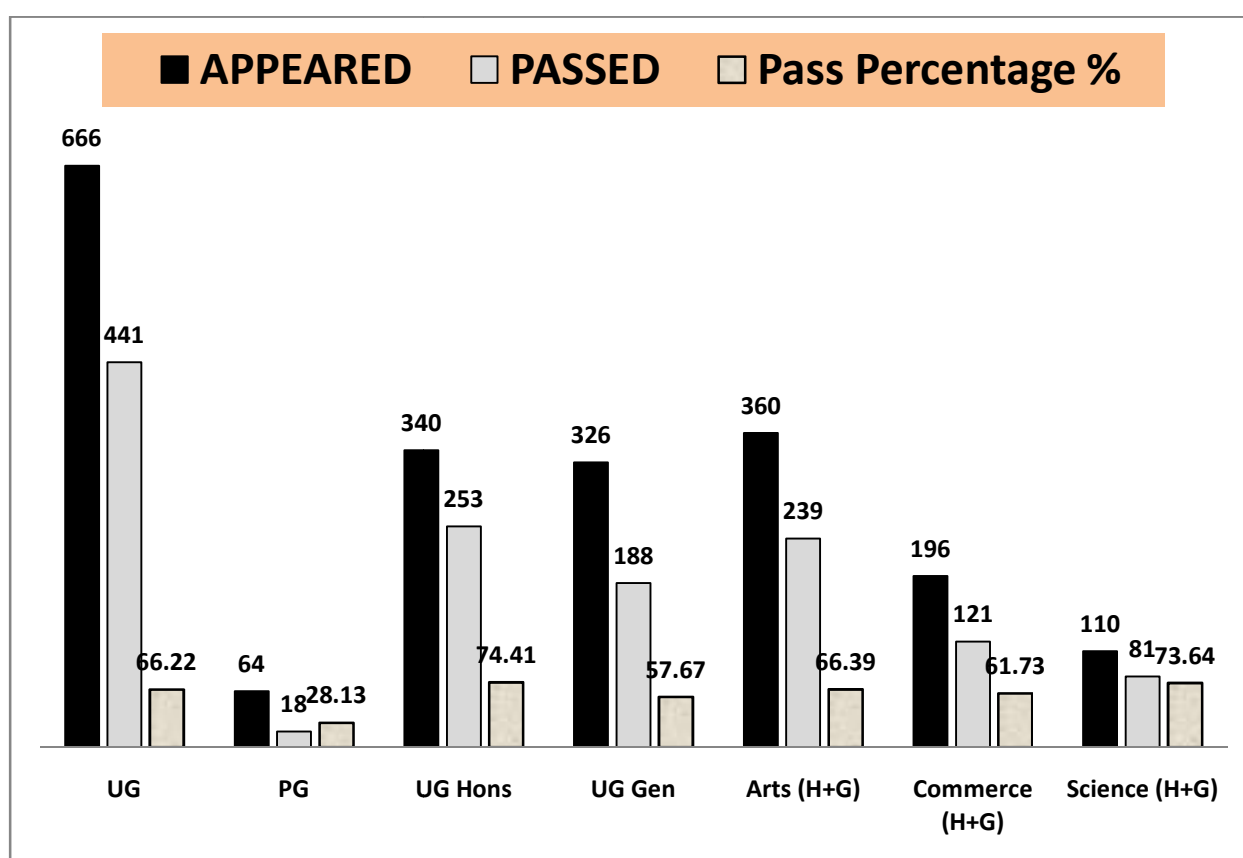

Of particular note is the remarkable performance of science students, who attained the highest pass percentage when compared to their counterparts in Arts and Commerce. Moreover, within the General category, Honours students emerged as frontrunners, surpassing general degree students in terms of pass percentage. This trend underscores the correlation between academic specialization and success rates within the collegiate landscape.
